Mad Kweer

*A Queer Zen moment from San Francisco
Pride 2003*

Greetings and Salutations

Yo Kweers! Thanks for picking up our Zine. It's good to know that there are some young queers out there who give a shit about each other and who want to get their voices heard. That's what this thing is all about. It's not all GAY gung ho or some shit like that. This is for us to voice what we think about life, our life or the life we see others go through. This is to let people know that all queers are different and all have issues other than being queer.

This is also here for people who do have queer issues and have no other fucking place to write about them because their friends have no idea what they're talking about. So us two hunky guys threw this together in hopes that people like you will write shit. This is mostly uncensored and totally open. So rant away.

If you have Art that kicks ass send that to us so we can stop stealing art from the internet. Oh, and after reading this pass it to friends. We are way too poor to make enough copies for every kweer kid out there.

NOT A LABEL, WHORE!

By Australian Dan

If I were to look up the meaning of labels in the dictionary it would say: "Label: a piece of card or material fixed to an object to show its ownership, destination etc." That's exactly what we do when we give ourselves these labels, we give our fucked up commodity driven society control and ownership over our lives. Ownership over what we wear, who we have sex with, where we live and anything else you can think of. Defining ourselves with a simple word is giving in to tight hold on our lives.

What am I trying to get here, is the issue of identity and all the shit that comes from being identified as being gay. Also the expectations that are put upon us when we decide to come out.

So if defining myself as gay means living the life of a stereotype, don't ever call me gay. Just because I find guys attractive and I like to kiss them (and other stuff!) doesn't define me one bit!

Some people find it unnecessary to come out because we really shouldn't have to. We should be able to get on with our lives, fuck who we wanna fuck (so long as it is safe and not hurting anyone) and be who we want to be! To be happy with ourselves. That's why we use the abstract term Queer to distinguish us from the rigidity of normal culture.

QUEER is a confronting term which pushes the boundaries of both the gay and straight communities. It is a term which accepts people with all different tastes, genders, communities, backgrounds and races. It eradicates the necessity for us to place a stable identity to our personal feelings. It gives us room to breathe and experiment and be happy with whom ever we choose.

Religious Freaks Vs. God
Battle it out on Pay Per View!!!!

If you were out for the Pride Parade in July , you got to see some of our most zealous fans holding horrid yellow banners and yelling things about sodomites and going to hell. What the Fuck ever. Hell sounds like a fun place to be if there were fun loving people like us there. I want to say much thanks to all the queers who showed them the true beauty of being queer by offering them candy to help them with their oral fixation or showing them the love two guys can have for one another (Critical Mass Make out!) We did benefit by having them there. They showed us once again that we have a long way to go.

What is Jerry Falwell's obsession with gay people all about. The guy in charge of a huge organization and he wastes time trying to prove the existence of a gay teletubby. Ok. That's just dumb. Can you imagine teletubbies even having sex? I can't. They seem so much like androgynous costume thingies. Oh wait...that's what they are. Maybe it's time for Mr. Falwell to come out of the closet.

Ask FAG BOY

Dear Fucking Faggot,

I think it's time for me and my boyfriend to finally have gay butt sex. We've been seeing each other for awhile now and I'm willing to try it but I don't know anything about it. Should I prepare for it somehow? Will it hurt? What about lube? Will I really like it?

-butt boy for first time

Ahhh....The butt sex. We know about it. Some of us have seen it in film and magazine. But is it as easy as those guys make it seem? Preparation there must be unless you want things to get kind of messy and gruesome. Personal Hygiene is a definite must along with some more intrusive deep cleansing. More then girls, boys need foreplay to get them ready. Have him tantalize you with his fingers, slowly letting your butt become more comfortable with things in it. Remember to have plenty of lube on hand to help the process along. Where to get lube? Try AIDS Network or if your over 18, Club 5 can get them to you on Tuesdays.

So your butt seems ready, the next thing to remember is to be calm. The tenses you get (oh god this is going to hurt!! Kind of thinking) the more it will hurt. Also make sure he is wearing a condom. Protect yourself even if you think he is clean. If there is no condom, then it should go no further. After he has the condom on, have him go slow and verbally let him know how your feeling and what you want (they don't call them Bossy Bottoms for nothing). Remember moderation at first. If it hurts, tell him to stop and wait until your comfortable before you try it again. And remember that it's more fun to switch roles and let everyone have a turn. And yes you will enjoy it when you become use to it (str8 boys don't know what they are missing). For more sex info, call AIDS Network and ask for Shawn. That's all from FAG BOY. If you have any other questions or worries, Submit it to this Zine's editors through Outreach.

How could I be kweer and not have something to bitch about? So this is typically the space where you can bitch or to say it nicely "criticize" something you don't like. For instance, why isn't gay relationships honored and encouraged in the school system. If the "cutest" couple in school are two guys or two girls, then we should have Prom queens and Prom Kings (up to the winners on which title they want.) Why can't guys who like other guys be able to hold hands or kiss in school knowing that wish that there was more of a sense of safety present in schools for us to be able to show affection for those we love without feeling like we are going to get our asses kick when we step off school property. Even finding teachers who can be open with their partners so we can see that being gay doesn't mean growing up alone.

Dyke Speak

Ok, This is where the ladies can share their ideas and thoughts and blah blah blah stuff. So if you're a Kweer Chick and you got a lot to say, write to us. In the mean time, I'm going to cover this section with phallic images to encourage you to replace them with some hardcore girl loving rants.

Dicks and Chicks

So you might have heard that HIV is up 7% within the guy loving community. You might have also heard that the reason is because people believe guys your age don't give a shit anymore about HIV or don't think about a possibility of getting it from fucking your friends. Apparently the guys who have it didn't think so either. It's estimated that initial contact with HIV happens when guys are in their early to mid 20's. But there have been cases of guys getting it middle to late teens.

CNN (Censor. Negotiate. Non-reportable) claimed that some guys were finding each other on the new age technology called the "internet" and that a majority of these guys don't wear protection. Ok, they found out about one of our cruising grounds. I'm not knocking on the internet and it's hookup capabilities. I do question why the lack of protection used by guys hooking up on it. If some guy wants to stick it up your butt, wouldn't you be concerned what is in or on his penis that might get in your butt? I don't care if he's a six pack smooth Twinkie guy or a big hairy college dude. He better wear a condom and I am sure as hell going to wear a condom myself. We are too young to have to handle the responsibility of getting an STD let alone getting HIV. Hell it's hard enough to take care of ourselves right now.

For the Ladies, although HIV transmission rates are shown low between girl sex, still take care of yourself by using protection when doing more high risk activities. Because you don't know if your girl may have a boy or two on the side.

And for those who are Transgender, I'll get to you in the next issue. Peace out and remember to Be Smart. Fuck Safe.

Farewell & Fornications

The End is Near. You've reach the Zine's ass. Remember that if you want to contribute to this Zine and get your voice heard or get your art recognized drop your shit off at Outreach at the end of Willy St. We are looking for Radical Queers, Boisterous Dykes or Lipstick Lovers; Glam Fairies, Queer Punks, Goth Queerlies and Hip Hop B-Boys; Closeted Jocks, Young Princesses and Youth Mentors. Write to us if your out there and you don't think you've been heard and you want others to know that being queer is a part and not necessarily the whole of who you are. Let others know that there are groups out there that have denied the right for others to define who they are or how they should be. We hope this is the spark that starts the fire of rebellion against the push for individuals to conform to gay culture drama and to end assumptions of youth ignorance.

Shawn & Brian wish to thank: AIDS Network, Outreach especially John, TLU and Briarpatch, Mama J, Johanna & Craig, GLSEN, PFLAG, Rainbow Bookstore and Cat's Meow (for my hair dye) and all of the beautiful young kweer people out there who are raising their voices and making a stand for themselves. Be proud and fuck the ignorant.
